FOR THE LADIES.

Knowing the latest rules and regulations, the latest styles and the last word in household furnishings, fancy work and decorations are always of interest to the ladies, we reproduce the following from the Galveston News for their benefit:

A postal card has been received by State Press with the following: Dear S. P.: I have two handsome table linens and do not know how to finish them around the edges. Shall I put a very narrow (say 1-4 inch) hem, or would you recommend a much wider hem. Of course if you say hem them I am to understand that the work must be exquisitely done, by hand. Or shall I embroider the edges. Knowing what a stickler you are in all matters of etiquette and table service, and that you are a most observant person, always ready to dispense your knowledge of such things, I anxiously await your help.— Mrs. H.

Lady, you applied at the right place.
The things you want to know are right in S. P.'s line, and he likes to tell them to you. But permit him right at the start to suggest that you should have said you have two tablecloths, not two table linens. Linen is the generic noun applicable to table napery, which includes napkins and dolloes, and whenever the term table cloth is used it implies a linen fabric used to clothe the dinner table. It is the same with a man's collars—he wouldn't say he has two linens, for it is presumed that he does not wear celluloid. Of course, there are some people who employ other than linen fabrics for table service, just as there are some who wear celluloid collars, but the point is that the words "table linen" are used in the secondary sense and "table cloth" in the primary. We trust you get us. Now as to the treatment for your tablecloths, that depends mostly on individual taste. The dominant note in table equipment must be either dignity or daintiness. If you elect dignity, then hem your tablecloths simply, but of course with scrupulous nicety. If daintiness shall be your preference, then embroider them. But do not make the mistake of supposing that the more embroidery you put on, the more daintiness you build in. Too much embroidery always detracts from daintiness—it becomes messy.

Consider the pearl, daintiest of all the gems. Its daintiness is so delicate it can not be seen at a glance, whereas a glass marble fairly shrieks at your eyes. If it is daintiness you seek, then embroider discreetly; if it is dignity, then hem. But being as how you have two tablecloths, how would it do to hem one an "broider 'tother? You would then have a combination which admits of more latitudinous entertaining. When your husband's folks come to dine you might use the hem; when your own folks come, the "broider would be available. Speaking of your husband, it may be that his tastes and predilections should be taken into account in the matter under advisement.
If he is one of the old-fashioned husbands who eats with his elbows cocked up on the table, perhaps you should half-sole the linen; if he is one of those relics of barbarism who wipes his mouth on the tablecloth, maybe you would better weave a few strands of barbed wire into the drape. Not knowing your husband, it is impossible to be precise in our advice.

A MODERN FLIGHT FROM EGYPT.

At this distance the revolution in Mexico is not considered of much consequence, and the fighting between Federalists and Rebels is not taken seriously. A nearer view of the situation, however, gives it a different aspect, and the following description of the flight of non-combatants from Piedras Negras, as taken from the Eagle Pass News-Guide, is intensely interesting:

The jostling, struggling, tottering mass of humanity congested the bridges for twenty-four hours. Old men with huge loads of bedding, whingling trunks, packs of household furniture, struggled along in the crowd. Old women carrying cooking pots with the soot clinging to the sides; a bird cage in one hand, a "Santa" picture in the other and a tub on the head, was not an infrequent sight. Boys with a "me-tate" in one hand, a violin in the other and a goat held with a string about the body; girls with a broom in one hand and a parrot in the other; men with huge packs strapped to their backs, all came in a struggling, jostling, moaning mob. "Belgame Dios!" was the exclamation, and thanks to their respective saints when American soil was reached. Some actually fell to the ground under their burdens, and were promptly lifted to their feet and started along by others more virile.
Such a parade no circus manager ever conceived. It was not amusing—it was tragic. Pitiful to behold, heartrending in the extreme.

A girl who cans tomatoes and beans is worth 40 girls with a slit in their skirt.—Tyler Courier-Times.
Now you are shoutin'. Just a glance at the exhibits of the Girls' Canning Clubs of Texas at the Dallas Fair is sufficient to prove the truthfulness of the above statement. The biscuit builders and home makers of the very near future are going to be these canning girls, while the slit skirters will still be prancing up and down Main street and sipping ice cream soda through a straw.

Bishop Geo. H. Kinsolving of Austin, is kicking like a bay steer in the General Episcopal Conference in session in New York, against the same church and same preacher for whites and negroes in the South. Bah for the big-footed, big-hearted, big-souled bishop from Texas. Such an idea is not only disgusting to the white people in the South, but also to the self-respecting colored people.

As fast as one lot of entombed miners are dug out at one place, a terrible disaster occurs at some other place, and others are swallowed up. The day has come when this government should require that in the operation of mines, of railroads, of steamships and other like industries, safety should be made the first consideration. Staggering calamities are becoming of too frequent occurrence.

The soil of Brazos County, outside of its fertility, is one of our greatest blessings. It gets wet and muddy, but never sticky and one day's sun and wind make the roads perfectly dry. One day's rain in the black-lands means a week of mud, stickiness, pulling, and often an impossibility to travel at all.

There seems to be a cloud on the title to Skibo castle and a young Scot is suing Andrew Carnegie for possession of same. If old Andy is really the apostle of peace he claims to be, and wants to teach by example as well as precept, he ought to let him have it and not kick up a row about it.

Our old friend Ed Blackshear of the Navasota Examiner, has been laid up several days with malaria. Ed, if you would eat more turnip greens and hog jowl, and less patti de fol gras and a la jaus, you would be sound as a dollar and never have an ache nor pain.

Interurban cars are now gliding at frequent intervals between Dallas and Corsicana. Can't the Commercial Club of Bryan do something to hasten the extension of the line from Corsicana to Houston.

Our observation is that when a woman does her own cooking and washing she doesn't worry the public librarian much.—Galveston News.

Nor the general public very much either.

A. and M. has a hard game tomorrow. It is your loyal and patriotic duty to go out and root for the "Red and White."

Col. George Bailey of the Houston Post, says old Huerta has one strong democratic trait—he won't resign.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

If a man would be honest he must keep in training.

Some women never worry over trifles until they marry one.

An ounce of boost more than discounts a pound of obituary.

Education enables a young man to show how clever he isn't.

A bride thinks her husband unreasonable if he expects her to be reasonable.

The display of fancy hosiery is not confined to the show windows on rainy days.

The man who goes after things gets more than the chap who takes them as they come.

If we could but get all the kickers and knockers together and compel them to fight it out!

There is something wrong with the brain box of an heiress who would rather marry an empty title than a real man.

CHICAGO COUNCIL FAVORS NO SKIRTS

City Fathers Give Approval to Bloomers for Women
Bathers.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Skirtless bathing suits for women and segregated sun-baths for "beach bathers" were recommended at a meeting of the city council health committee yesterday.

The meeting was the result of the arrest of Dr. Rosalie M. Ladova last summer, when she went into the water at Jackson Park Free Beach in a bloomer suit minus a skirt. Dr. La-dova, Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop and Mrs. O'Malley, wife of Dr. Thomas J.
O'Malley, former member of the board of education, were announced as the chief advocates of the skirtless suit.
Arguments were made also against the wearing of stockings by women bathers as being unsanitary and a needless expense.

"Nothing has prevented women from being really good swimmers so much as the wearing of long skirts," said Norman C. B. Cox, swimming instructor of Chicago Athletic Association, in a letter to the committee.
"Not any of the requirements of propriety is served by the drapery of a wet skirt."

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH HAMMOND-VAWTER

Mr. L. P. Nealey, an expert alterer, cleaner and presser of Waco, has accepted a position with the Hammond-Vawter Co. of this city.

Owing to the increasing trade of this branch, and determined that their customers were entitled to the best the management have spared neither time nor money in their efforts to secure a man second to none in his line, and after thorough investigation, they have selected Mr. Nealey to fill the position. Mr. Nealey is a man of long experience in the altering, cleaning and pressing line, and comes highly recommended by some of the leading establishments of the larger cities, and the firm feels that in securing his services, together with the up-to-date machinery in use, they have solved the important problem of giving their customers the best in the altering, cleaning and pressing line that money and experience can buy.

SMUGGLER IS CONVICTED GIVEN LIFE PENALTY

[By Associated Press.]
Cotulla, Tex., Oct. 23.—Jesus Gonzales, a member of the alleged gang of Mexican smugglers, was today convicted of the murder of posseman Candelario Ortiz, and sentenced to life imprisonment. He is the third man convicted, who was connected with this affair.

SAMPLES OF FINE FRUIT

Mr. Jeff Steele of Millican, who was in the city yesterday, had with him a sample of Japanese persimmons and pears grown on his place. He left samples of them at the Eagle office, and all who saw them pronounced them as fine as any ever grown in the county. Mr. Steele says there is no blight in his pears and the sample was from a tree ten years old. He says his pear trees are prolific bearers and from one tree alone, he sold $10.85 worth of fruit.

BEST ONLY FOR FAIR PATRONS

Band Music of the Best to Feature Coliseum Programs.

THAVIU WILL DIRECT

Famous Ballet in "Dances of All Nations—Very Best Acts in World of Vaudeville Secured.

Dallas, Texas.—The State Fair of Texas is bending every effort toward making the Coliseum programs at the coming exposition, Saturday, October 18, to Sunday, November 2, of unusual interest. Already a ballet of America's best dancers has been secured. Under the leadership of a premier dancer who comes direct to America from Austria-Hungary, the ballet will be seen by Fair goers in the dances of all Nations.

Bandmaster Thaviu and his famous organization of musicians and instrumental soloists are well known to patrons of the State Fair and are exceptionally popular with those who love the best in band music. In a letter to the management Mr. Thaviu says:
"Have already started arranging my programs for the Fair without an equal." As much attention will be given to popular airs as to classical music, and we will have a band that will please each and every visitor. My list of instrumental soloists is not as yet completed, but will include the very best in the musical world. Have practically completed arrangements for securing vocal soloists of National reputation, whose singing will be one of the big features of the Fair."

Among the vaudeville acts of merit that will feature the Coliseum bill are:
The Three Duttons, an equestrian act; the Tetsuware Japanese Troupe, the Six Castrellians, Santuel. The Three Dut-tons consist of three people and two horses in "stunts" that will appeal.
The Tetsuware Troupe is billed as the very best Japanese act in America, not only in their ability as performers but in stage settings and costumes. The Cas-trellians contribute the very best acrobatic work on the vaudeville stage and their performance each day will be marked by marvelous feats. Santuel is an accordion player and his instrument is so constructed that he can play the most intricate of classic music as well as popular and ragtime airs.
